Superfine Broad Cloths,
Cassimeres,

of different qualities and a variety of colours.

Having taken into partnership, an experienced workman from Europe, in the manufactory o cloth, his friends may rest assured, that all orders in any branch of their business, will be filled to their entire satisfaction.

Persons wishing to have wool manufactured into broad or narrow cloth, may have it done reasonably, in the best manner, and at the shortest notice; but no less quantity than 25 pounds will be received for that purpose.

A large quantity of country cloth, being now finished the owners are requested to take it away, as the proprietor cannot hold himself responsible for its safety from moths during the warm season.

His machinery for carding wool is in complete order; and whilst he returns his thanks for the very liberal patronage he has received in this branch of his business, he requests a continuance.

The Emigrations to the west, at this time, far exceed those of any former period. The state of Indiana, and the Illinois and Missouri territories, receive the greater part of those enterprizing adventurers; to whom, and to whose friends, it may not be uninteresting to learn, that the following military posts are occupied and garrisoned by the army on that frontier, viz.

Fort Harrison, on the Wabash, about 70 miles above Vincennes.

Belle Fontaine, on the Missouri, 15 miles above St. Louis.

Fort Osage, on the Missouri, 300 miles above its mouth.

Fort Edwards, on the Mississippi, 220 miles above the Missouri.

Fort Armstrong, on the Mississippi, 420 miles above the mouth of Missouri.

Fort Crawford, at Praire-du-Chien, on the Mississippi, 600 miles above the mouth of Missouri, and is the advanced post connecting the Mississippi with the lakes, between which and the post at Greenbay, on Lake Michigan, there is not more than 3 miles land transportation.

On the upper lakes, above Detroit, there are at present about three military posts, viz. at Mackinaw, at Greenbay, and at Chicago, the southern part of lake Michigan.

Another military post is deemed important at the falls of St. Mary's between lakes Huron and Superior; this would interrupt the smugglers, and afford additional security to that frontier. We presume this point will attract the attention of the government as soon as troops can be spared to form a garrison.

This chain of sentinels will then afford protection to a vast and valuable territory, every day becoming more important, by the rapid increase of its population.

Between our advance post, Natchitoches, on Red river, in Louisiana, and the Spanish Patriot post of Nicogdoches, in the province of Texas, the distance does not exceed 80 miles.

It is said a new post is shortly to be established on the Arkansas, near where the Osage lines strike that river.

If the peace establishment of our army would warrant the government in encreasing the number and strength of the frontier garrisons, beneficial results might be expected in keeping the Indians quiet, and [illegible] security to our new and flourishing settlements. [illegible]

A Misanthrope.

DIED, at new Marlborough, (Mass.) on the 14th ult. Timothy Leonard, aged 70. He was born near Canterbury, in Connecticut, of parents in low circumstances, and bound out and brought up in Woodbury. After he was of age he went to the town of Fredericksburg, (N. Y.) where his father then resided. When about twenty four, he came into this town, a sprightly and industrious young man. He purchased a lot of new land remote from any settlement—went to work, cleared a fine piece of land, and with the help of his brother, who afterwards came to him erected a small log house, in which they lived together harmoniously. After a year and a half he visited his friends, and returned a perfect misanthrope; was displeased and quarrelled with his brother and drove him away. He gradually became deranged. During the revolution, he fancied himself commander in chief, he frequently gave orders for the regulation of congress and the army; copies of which are now to be seen. He called himself Admiral. His other titles were, God, a King of the whole earth, &c. He became troublesome and dangerous, and was disarmed by the civil authority. Since that time he has sought no intercourse with the rest of the world; has lived alone, in the wilderness, and obtained his subsistence by the cultivation of not more than one acre of land. This he manured with grass, leaves, and other vegetables. His principal living has been corn, potatoes and pumpkins. For a time he kept some stock—had some pasture—but for a number were the varieties of his table. His clothing consisted of two garments, fastened together at the waist by large wooden pins, and was made of wood, hemp, or flax twisted coarse, and wove in narrow stripes, sewed together, and put on and worn out and probably without cleansing; and shoes or mocasins of bark shaped to his feet, and worn off. He could read, always kept the year, day of the month and week. He was not disposed to converse much upon religious subjects. He however kept a testament; paid some regard to the sabbath: was addicted somewhat to profanity; and was a lover of ardent spirits. He expected after death to be about and take care of his farm. For some years his strength has been failing, but he kept about till the very day before he died. His friends have endeavoured to draw him from his retirement, but in vain. Thousands from the neighbouring towns have visited the hermit, for so he was called. He has often in the summer season been found naked; his head uncovered, and uncombed, and his baird unshaven. His neighbours have been disposed to assist him, but he has generally rejected their offers.

The night on which he died, though his dress was uncomfortable and filthy, finding him very weak, they wished to have remained with him; but no, to morrow he should be about again. But in the morning early he was found a corpse. His remains were the next day committed, with suitable religious services, and in the presence of a great concourse, to the dust, on the place where he had spent almost half a century in the manner described He was perhaps equally destitute of friends and enemies. He was industrious and honest. He lived for himself entirely, and still was a lesson of instruction to thousands; the picture which he exhibited was, human nature in ruins.

His relations if he have any, are informed, that after all, he has left a property worth from five to six hundred dollars with but little incumbrance.

Augusta, Georgia, June 24.

In a thunder storm on Wednesday last, six fine horses belonging to Captain John Ryan, of South Carolina, about 14 miles from this place, were killed by one stroke of lightning—the horses were standing under a small china tree, a stream of electric fluid descended, accompanied as usual with a tremendous clap of thunder, and instantly killed the whole of them; they probably stood so nearly together, as to serve for conductors to each other; or the quantity of electric matter was so great, as to occasion its effects to be diffusively experienced. No marks of the lightning we understand were left upon the tree, but a small bruise was observed upon one of the roots of it, where probably the fluid had passed off into the ground.

Caution to Smokers.—Within a few days past, two citizens have been called upon by the police officers, to pay fines for smoking Cigars, in the public streets. One attended to the injunction of the law, and paid four dollars, the amount of the fine, with six dollars, 67 cents cost. We also learn, that several persons have been presented for driving their horses, furiously, through the streets. Every well disposed citizen must rejoice to see our by-laws rigorously executed.

FOR THE COMMERCIAL ADVERTISER.

NEGRO SLAVERY.

The kidnapping of a number of negroes the last week, with an intention of transporting them to Georgia, demands public attention.—The extent to which this has been carried on from this, and the other Middle States, exceeds the belief of many, who have not made it a subject of inquiry. Particularly has this been the case within the last two years. The high price which the productions of the south have commanded since the peace, has induced many to engage in planting. this has made slaves in high demand. Prime negroes have been sold for eight hundred dollars, and upwards.

To give a better idea on this subject, the following is extracted from the Journal of a young gentleman, who visited the Southern States, during the last winter:—

Augusta, Feb. 3d, 1817.

"Last night my attention was attracted by a number of fires on the opposite side of the river, On inquiry this morning, I found them to be at the stalls of negroes exposed for sale. A land that boasts its freedom! A land of high toned democracy, where human beings like dumb brutes are driven to market, and instead of dying by the hand of the butcher, die a lingering death of slavery and bondage!

"Immediately after breakfast, I resolved to visit this camp of human misery on my arrival I assumed the character of a planter's son wishing to purchase slaves. The camp consisted of nearly three huntage. They took me from tent to tent, until I had seen the whole. With more brutality than Turks, they cracked their lashes and ordered about these miserable beings to make them appear to the best advantage.

"These poor creatures, bought in the states of Maryland and Virginia, and driven across a country in a few days that would require an army for weeks to traverse, were beseeching some one to buy them, that they might have a home. Once I was addressed by a child, who could hardly speak; "Master won't you please buy me and my mamma, that we may have a home." Looking round, a miserable object presented itself to view. A woman, with an infant not three days old, and which first saw the light on the ground where it then lay, was the mother of the boy who so feelingly addressed me. In silence I turned round; astonishment made me dumb.

"The exportation of slaves from Virginia to Georgia since the abolition of slave trade, and more especially since the peace, has yielded great profits. Wealth is power, and power is the object at which mankind aim. To acquire this, what will not man attempt? What has he not attempted?

"More than twenty thousand slaves, if we may believe those who best know, have been imported into Georgia within the last two years Legislatures have attempted to put a stop to this barbarous traffic; but such is the debasement of many of the people where slavery exists, that it will require the united efforts of the virtuous in every country to stop this horrid practice. Were I to make laws, death should be the punishment of him who sells a man."

FOREIGN.

[From French Papers received at New York.]

Present of the Pope.—His Majesty's store-ship Abundance, Mr. Josiah Oake, commander, which conveyed the Works of Art, restored by the Allies to the Pope, from Antwerp to Civita Vecchia, has arrived at Portsmouth from thence, bringing some fine specimens of Marble Statuary, presents from the Pope to his Royal Highness the Prince Regent. She has brought altogether sixty large cases, which contain as follows.

For his Royal Highness the Prince Regent.—Testa di Bachante; Testa Semele; a bust of Ocean; a bust of Ajax; Torso di Belvidere; Menandro Sedente; Prosippo; Sedente; Antinoo o sia Mercurio; Apollo Citaredo; the Nine Muses; Julius Cæsar; Deecabolo; burst of Jupiter Serapido; Milleagre; Group of Laocoon; Apollo Belvidere; Dying Gladiator; Cenus; Antinoo; Flora; Mars; Juno; group of Love and Pysche; Letizia Sedente, Concorda Sedente, Paris and Venus, by Canova; Un Rochio di Porfido con Sua base de Manno che Serve di Piedestallo alla Tuzzaquakra e tonda; La Tuzza, by Canovr; Il Piantato del Monumento di Rosa Antico; four Pillars to sustain the lower part, and Quartro erme and Quartro canefome for the upper part of the Monument to be erected in commemoration of the Battle of Waterloo, with sundry ornaments for the same.

Thus we see the Sitting Menander, the Laocoon, the Muses the Gladiator, the Diascobulo—in short the choisest, rarest, and most exquisite specimens of art left the world by ancient Greece, conveyed to England—and what adds singularity to the transaction is, that the transfer has been made by the head of the Catholic to the head of the Protestant Church. This is as great a novelty as any of the records even in our extraordinary times.

The fate of these inestimable works, we hope, is at length decided. We trust that the insular situation of England will be their security against the contingencies of future wars. To England the present is invaluable. Together with the Townley, the Elgin, and her old collections, she will become, by many degrees, the richest country in Europe in works of art. Canova, the Italian sculptor, describes the Elgin Collection as finer, by far than any collection in the world.

Latest from Africa.—The brig Traveller, Stevens, lately arrived at Gloucester from Gambia, which place she left May 8. Capt. Driscol, of the Traveller, died on the voyage. In answer to inquiries made to Capt. Stevens, we learn that "all he knows of the African expedition is, that Major Peddie is dead, and it was reported that Captain Campbell was also—but no certainty of it. Captain Driscol carried a part of the expedition from Senegal to Rio Nonas. He says that two vessels (supposed to be connected with the expedition,) arrived off Senegal, and proceeded to leeward, one commanded by Captain Young, and the other by Captain Morgan. Captain Stevens being sick himself, as well as all the crew, he was unable to get any news

To Owners of Horses.

A NUMBER of the merchants of Philadelphia, desirous of promoting the internal intercourse of the state, and of facilitating the trade and connection with the western states have united themselves into an association, under the name of "The Philadelphia and Pittsburgh Transporting Company." Their object is to reduce and equalize throughout the year, the cost of carriage, and to diminish the time now required, for the transport of merchandize to the western waters. They therefore purpose to establish Lines of Wagons, to start daily from Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, to run day and night changing horses every ten miles.

It must be evident to every enlightened person, that the success of the proposed system is most intimately connected with the interests of the whole community. It is important for the interiour of our state, that the trade of the western country should be maintained with the Atlantick cities; to secure which, the plan now contemplated, it is believed, will be effectual. A reduction in the rates, and in the time required for the transportation of Goods, to and from the Atlantick cities to the western waters, will enable the farmers and others to transmit their products to market with facility and cheapness, and procure a supply of foreign articles on more favourable terms. It will also increase the demand for horses, travelling, the value of lands and in fine, add much to the improvement and importance of the towns and country on the route. Owners of horses, will find constant and profitable employment for them near their homes which is surely preferable to uncertain employment at a distance

PROPOSALS WILL BE RECEIVED,

For hauling the Wagons any number of sections of ten miles, each section, going and returning, to be performed within every [illegible] hours, and persons desirous of contracting will state the section or sections they will contract for.

The loading as far as Carlisle, will not exceed 4000 lbs. and from thence to Pittsburgh 3500, or 3200 when the roads are in a bad state.

The following conditions will be required:

1. Each contractor must give satisfactory security for the faithful performance of his contract.
2. Each contract must be for one year.
3. The contractor to be at every expense for his horses and driver, including the harness.
4. The Wagons must travel two miles an hour changing horses every ten miles without any unnecessary delay.
5. The contractors will be accountable to the Company, for all delays or damages which may arise from fraud or mismanagement upon the road, embraced within their contract.

Turnpike and Bridge Tolls will be paid by the Company.

Application to be made by Letter as early as possible, directed to the Subscriber, agent of the Philadelphia and Pittsburgh Transporting Company in Philadelphia.

PORTUGUESE BIBLE.

When General Junot left Portugal, he carried off from the Convent de Balem, near Lisbon, a celebrated Bible, unique of its kind; written entirely with the pen, in 9 folio volumes; and illustrated with engravings which form pictures in the most expressive and brilliant style. It is stated in the Gentleman's Magazine, that the Government of Portugal were so anxious to redeem this great curiosity, that they offered Madame Junot 80,000 livres for it, but she demanded 150,000. His Majesty Louis XVIII. afterwards purchased it of Junot's widow, and paid her 80,000 francs for it. His majesty immediately restored this invaluable work to the Portuguese Charge d' Affaires, who had the good fortune a few days before the return of Bonaparte from Elba, to send it to Portugal, where it again ornaments the Library of the Convent de Balem.

Albany Dai. Adv.

The following (says the Enquirer) is a most singular order for publication. Such subjects ought to be a matter of arrangement between the commanding General and the War Office.

Adjutant General's Office,
H. Q. Division of the South.
NASHVILLE, April 22, 1817.

DIVISION ORDERS.

The commanding general considers it due to the principles of subordination, which ought and must exist in an army, to prohibit the obedience of any order emanating from the department of war, to officers of this division, who have reported and been assigned to duty, unless coming through him as the proper organ of communication. The object of this order is to prevent the recurrence of a circumstance which removed an important officer from the division, without the knowledge of the commanding general and indeed when he supposed that officer engaged in his official duties, and anticipated hourly the receipt of his official reports on a subject of great importance to his command; also to prevent the topographical reports from being made publick through the medium of newspapers, as was done in the case alluded to, thereby enabling the enemy to obtain the benefit of all our topographical researches as soon as the general commanding, who is responsible for the division. Superiour officers having commands assigned them are held responsible to the government for the character and conduct of that command; and it might as well be justified in an officer senior in command to give orders to a guard on duty, without passing that order through the officer of that guard, as the department of war should countermand the arrangements of commanding generals, without giving their order through the proper channel. To acquiesce in such a course, would be a tame surrender of military rights and etiquette, and at once subvert the established principle of subordination and good order. Obedience to the lawful commands of superior officers is constitutionally and morally required; but there is a chain of communication that binds the military compact, which, if broken, opens the door to disobedience and disrespect, and gives loose to the turbulent spirits who are ever ready to excite mutiny. All physicians able to perform duty, who are absent on furlough, will forthwith repair to their respective posts. Commanding officers of regiments and corps are ordered to report specially all officers absent from duty on the 30th June next, and the cause of absence. The army is too small to tolerate idlers, and they will be dismissed the service.

By order of Maj. Gen. Jackson.
ROBERT BUTLER,
Adjutant General.

General Mina,

It appears by intelligence received at New-Orleans, has debarked in the province of Nuevo Santander.—Humboldt represents that country to be "so desert, that fertile districts of ten or twelve square leagues were sold there in 1802, for ten or twelve francs." From this it is pretty certain that it neither abounds in men nor provisions. What motives has induced the general to disembark where he can but a short time subsist, and add little to his force, is difficult to imagine. Perhaps he intends to penetrate, in a southwestern direction, to San Louis Potosi, or to march southwardly to Panunca. At either place he may gather reinforcements, victual his and manoeuvre, until an opportuni- Intendency of Mexico; where he will no doubt meet with that reception, and enjoy the confidence of his compatriots, which his devotion to freedom so richly merits.

Savanna Repub.

From the Charleston Courier June, 27.

A report has reached here, from Savannah, that the expedition, which it is supposed is destined against East Florida, was to rendezvous in the vicinity of Black Beard's Island, on the coast of Georgia: from whence they were to depart about the 24th inst. The few inhabitants of Fernandina, (Amelia Island) had removed to St. Marys, &c. taking with them such moveables as they could carry, and disposing of their other property to the best advantage.

IMPORTANT REPORT.

Captain Campbell, arrived this morning from Savannah, in 30 hours, informs us, that a report prevailed there when he sailed, that the Patriot forces took possession of Amelia Island on Sunday last. We think there is great probability in this rumour.—C. City Gaz.

Jutphans, (Netherlads) April 24.—We have seen pass by this place, at different times in the course of this year, some thousands of individuals of both sexes, coming chiefly from Switzerland, and going through this commune to Utrecht, in order to proceed to America. This emigration seems to augment. Yesterday passed six vessels, on board of which were 1200 Swiss families, from the Canton of Basle. To-day six hundred have passed, who are to be followed by a still greater number.

An inhabitant of this commune, who conversed with several of them, found that many of them had directed, as masters, & weavers, the first manufactories of linen, cotton, and silk, in Switzerland, and distress and want of work were the causes which obliged them to quit their country.

Pulpit Betting.

Rowland Hill took for his text the following passage from St. Paul—"I can do all things."—There he stopt and said, "you can do all things, can you, Paul? I'll lay the half a crown you can't tho'—and here's down with the money," (pulling out half a crown and clapping it down on the pulpit cushion) "but let us give him fair play though, and hear what he has to say for himself further;" (repeating and going through the text)—"I can do all things through Christ Jesus my Lord." "Oh, that's quite a different thing, Paul—you can do all things, but it turns out, after all, that the Lord is to do it for ye, aye! oh, it is a drawn wager—so I'll put my money into my pocket again;"—and he did so. Not Burke's dagger appeared a more brilliant trope of rhetoric in St. Stephen's chapel than Rowland Hill's half crown wager with St. Paul, in the Surrey chapel.

DIED.—On Friday morning last, (the 11th July,) in the 22d year of her age, Mrs: MARY ANDERSON, wife of Mr. Paul Anderson, of this city.

We are authorised to name ALEXANDER LOGAN, Esq. of Plumb Township, as a Candidate for the Office of Commissioner of Allegheny County, at the ensuing Election.

Mr. Logan is a respectable farmer, well qualified to fill the Office, and has resided in this County about thirty years.

NOTICE.

ALL persons indebted to ANDREW WILT are hereby notified that their accounts are left in the hands of Robert Graham, esq for collection. Those wishing to discharge the same will please to call on him on or before the 1st of August next—otherwise I will proceed as the law directs.

Doctor Bossy's
Celebrated Elixir of Health.

A medicine, possessing extraordinary powers in arresting the progress, and effectually curing consumption, with all its train of distressing symptoms—a disease which from its frequency, and difficulty of cure within the last three or four years, seems to threaten destruction to a great portion of our population. The author of this medicine is an aged german physician, of great celebrity and acknowledged talents, (residing in the city of London) whose wonderful success in the cure of consumption, has sounded forth his name to the utmost extent of Great Britain.

It is hoped and expected so great a blessing will not long remain untried by the inhabitants of America, whose diseased lungs, with teazing cough, loss of appetite, decay of strength, loss of flesh, pain in the chest, and depression of spirits, warns them of approaching dissolution.

DELAYS ARE DANGEROUS.

Not to try the means which Providence has placed within our reach, is little less than being our own executioners. It is therefore the duty of every afflicted mortal to seek a remedy in time.

While there is life there is hope!
To-morrow may come too late!!

Dr. Bossy's
Hysteric Drops.

A medicine, which has been for many years used with great success, both in Europe and America, speedily removing the most violent fits of Hysterics, like a charm.

Dr. Bossy's Lotion,
For burns and scalds.

Slight burns and scalds, if taken immediately will in general be cured by this Liniment. In case of a fever intervening, Epsom salts taken in small quantities, will assist the cure.

When the mischief is extensive or deep, mortification may be apprehended, whether the subject be young or old; the advice therefore of a skilful physician or surgeon, should be procured without delay.

Dr. Bossy's Embrocation,
For bruises, strains, inflammations, rheumatism, &c.

A medicine in every respect superior to the common Steer's Opodeldoc, (so universally used) No medicine ever sold has a greater claim on the public than the one now offered; it being a useful external application for sprains, bruises, childblains, and for dispersing inflammatory tumours, rheumatism, burns scalds, &c.

Dr. Bossy's India Oil,
For the cure of cancers, wens, and all stubborn tumours, &c.

This celebrated Oil, the production of the East Indies, was first discovered by that great, and much celebrated physician of the East Indies, Foi Chi, whose great medical information, has reached the most remote parts of Great Britain, France, Germany, Italy, Russia, and the United States.

Thousands of empyrics and quacks, are daily offering to the world the most deadly poisons, such as Arsenic, muriate of Mercury, Licuta, &c. in the form of plaisters, Tinctures, Solutions, Pills, &c. thereby destroying the lives of hundreds and thousands of the community.

Infallible Remedy
For destroying Bugs in bedsteads, furniture &c.

This mixture will infallibly destroy them and their nits, though they swarm ever so much. It is necessary that the bed or furniture should be thoroughly wet with it, the dust being first shaken off, which will prevent the mixture staining in the least, or soiling even the richest silks, &c. Should any bugs appear after once using this mixture it will be only owing to not having well wetted the linen &c. of the bed with it. So that those parts being well wetted with the liquid, which dries as fast as it is used, and pouring in the joints and holes, where the sponge or brush cannot reach, they never fail of being all destroyed

N. B. It is necessary that the mixture should be well shaken together before it is used.

Doctor Velnos'
TURKISH GLUE or ARMENIAN CEMENT,
For mending China, glass, &c.

A discovery of first magnitude in domestic economy, Thousands of articles, many of the most useful are daily committed to the street &c for the want of some suitable Cement, to mend them. The one now offered has proved by experience, to answer the purpose, and will even join glass or china, so strong that it will often break in a fresh place.

Balsamic Aromatic Tincture,
Or the grand corrector of flatulence and acidity in the bowels of children.

A medicine so well calculated to relieve the bowel complaint of infant children, (as it is so emphatically called by nurses) that it needs only the trial of a single bottle, to recommend it to the attention of a family.

To alleviate the sufferings of infant children, has called forth the talents of the most eminent physicians of every age, and the want of success appears chiefly to arise from the deeply rooted prejudices of parents and nurses, which the healing art has had to contend with. In this enlightened age much has been done towards banishing ancient prejudices, and we now find children taking food and physic, on much more rational principles than formerly. It is a fact clearly ascertained, that most of the diseases incident to children, do arise from bad manage-

Europe the last twenty years to have been the favorite remedy with the most celebrated and eminent physicians, for correcting acidity, promoting the digestive powers, warming and invigorating the stomach, and giving immediate ease in the most excruciating pains of the bowels.

The dose to a child a month old is sixty drops—three months old, eighty drops—six months old a tea spoonfull; after which, thirty drops may be added for every year of their age.

The mixture to be well shaken, and mixed with barley water, balm or mint tea, or cold water, and repeated every sixth hour till ease is procured.

Velno's Vegetable Ointment,
For the cure of the Rheumatism

Perhaps no country in the world is so subject to Rheumatism, as the United States of America. The most learned of the medical faculty, has not before been able to produce a medicine which would with certainty cure this dreadful scourge of mankind. Thousands of victims are at this day labouring under the most excruciating pain, from different and lasting attacks of this most formidable disease.

Doctor Velnos is happy in informing the citizens of the United States of America, that after a laborious study and practice of forty years, he has at length found out a medicine, which will infallibly cure the Rheumatism in every stage; and strongly recommends to all who are so unfortunate as to be afflicted with the disease, to give this valuable medicine a trial: being composed of the most innocent vegetables, the young, the old, the aged and infirm may use it with the most perfect safety, and may rely with confidence on a perfect cure, if within the reach of medicine.

Since Doctor Velnos first discovered this very valuable vegetable Ointment, thousands have been cured; many who had not the use of their limbs for many years before.

Dr. Hartman's Worm Cakes.

This is a mild and exceeding good vermifuge, may be given at all times with the greatest safety to the youngest infant, or pregnant women. It is celebrated for an astringent, which strengthens the tone of the stomach and intestines, and hence proves useful in disorders arising from laxity of the fibres, dropsical and bilious complaints or when the bowels are obstructed with slime.

Doran's Chymical Cake,
For removing grease from silk, cotton or woollen goods.

DOCTOR BREE'S TINCTURE.

For Asthma, Coughs, Colds, and approaching Consumptions.

Dr. Velnos' Antipertesis,

For the cure of Hooping Cough.

A medicine justly entitled to universal approbation, having been used with the most flattering success, in all the hospitals and infirmaries of Europe, and recommended highly by the most eminent of the faculty; is perfectly mild in its operation, and may be given to children with the greatest safety.
